

Dear Graduate,

Congratulations on your success, and welcome to the Athabasca University alumni family.

Today you join more than 30,000 AU graduates around the world who are putting their AU education to work for their families, their employers and their communities.

To commemorate your special day, visit convocation.athabascau.ca/memorabilia (as of June 20, 2017) to download a free photo, courtesy of the Alumni Relations team, of you receiving your AU parchment.

Even though you have reached this well-deserved milestone, we hope that AU will continue to be part of your life, and that you will remain an integral part of ours. Our success is best measured by your success — and we on the Alumni Relations team are committed to keeping the AU alumni network vibrant and relevant to your needs as you move into the next chapters of your life.

We are here to help you to stay connected with your peers and professors, to tap into useful resources (such as AU Library databases), to be part of AU events in your area and to take advantage of group benefits from affinity partners (including preferred rates on insurance through TD Insurance Meloche Monnex). Visit the Alumni Relations website at athabascau.ca/alumni for all the details.

We are proud to follow the successes of each and every AU graduate. Who better to be AU ambassadors than our outstanding alumni? So, please, do let us know what is happening in your life. We are always excited to hear from you. Visit the website, send an email to aualumni@athabascau.ca, keep your contact information up-to-date, and get involved in all that Alumni Relations and AU have to offer.

Congratulations once again! A long and rewarding relationship with your alma mater has just begun — and we look forward to staying in touch.

Sincerely,

Tara Friesen
Manager, Alumni Relations
